A Walkathon to Support Education about African American History

Pave the way to understanding

Saturday, October 2nd - Sunday, November 14th, 2021

Saturday, October 2 - Sunday, November 14, 2021

Join us in supporting anti-racist education in our communities.

HistoryThon is a walkathon, on your own schedule, to support education about African American history, in concert with our work to prepare educators in developing expertise in K-12 anti-racist education. Join us in paving the way to understanding!

◆ Choose when and where your journey takes you!

- ◇ Explore walks, trails, and sites of historical importance to the African American experience selected from a list provided at registration.
- ◇ Participate anytime between October 2-November 14, 2021

◆ Ask your community to support you!

- ◇ We are raising funds to answer urgent calls for classroom-ready lessons about African American history.
- ◇ Our Making Freedom Digital Curriculum will revolutionize teaching about African American history. It's a resource that needs to be revised, updated, digitized, and disseminated. With your support, we'll get it done!

◆ Pave the way to understanding!

- ◇ Put on your walking shoes, grab a friend, and get outside to learn more about your local African American history.

Register as an individual or build a team: Inviting friends, family, and/or colleagues to join the HistoryThon journey is a great way to participate! There will be opportunities to win prizes!

About Primary Source

We are an education nonprofit that provides professional development programs and resources to teachers to help foster students' knowledge, skills, and dispositions for thoughtful and engaged citizenship. We work with thousands of teachers annually to make global, civics, and cultural education an integral part of every student's classroom experience.
